

As an XM subscriber I would like to voice my opinion regarding local information being broadcast. I feel I was driven to subscribe to satellite radio due to the limited selection on broadcast radio. The convenience of local traffic and weather recently became as added bonus. The NAB should be focusing their attention on how to fix the broadcast radios lack of appeal and leave the satellite services alone. XM is continuously improving their services, adding more channels, ensuring all voices are heard. I feel my interests are their priority. I pay a premium for this service and local information has made it more valuable. Broadcast radio needs to figure out how to win me back. Not run crying to the government to protect their inferior product.
